CENTER FOR THE ARTS, GALLERY, AND HOME OF THE MUSEUM OF NEW ENGLAND ART

MARCH 2020

CONTACT US dvaa1931@deerfeldvalleyart.org

Hello my fellow artists and art lovers, isn't our center for the arts just so beautiful—inside and out! It is feeding the needs of art buyers and nurturing the dreams of artists throughout our region. No visitor leaves here without being touched and inspired by their experience. Beauty, of course, takes work and I cannot speak highly enough of the many helping hands that have gotten our artful center off the ground. But, (there is always a but!), a few more hands are needed.

So now I speak to you heart to heart to appeal for people to form a marketing committee. This Committee's task is to get the word out to the larger community about the exhibits, workshops, and other events at DVAA by creating and distributing ad copy through flyers, print media, social media, and our website. Many hands make light work, which is very much the case with this Committee. Five or six volunteers to form this Committee can make all the difference for the success of DVAA's beautiful art center. Won't you please join the team.

Think it sounds too hard? The Board will ensure appropriate training and guidance. Please contact the Board at dvaa1931@deerfeldvalleyart.org

MEMBER NEWS

MEMBERS ON EXHIBIT

KIM SEBREY and JOANNE SOROKA pay tribute to Spring in a joint show at McCuskers Market, Shelburne Falls through March. Reception March 14, 4-7pm features pies for Pi-Day!

Hilltown Wall Artists KIM SEBREY, JOANNE SOROKA, KAYLEE MULLIGAN, EILEEN LIVELY, and MAUREEN MOORE are on exhibit in an eclectic group show at Mocha Maya's Coffee House, Main Street, Shelburne Falls. March 1 - March 31. Mon-Sun, 7am

FRAN CORRIVEAU'S exhibit, "Healing Journey" is at the Visitors Information Center, 35 South Pleasant St. Amherst MA through March. Fran explains the theme of her exhibit by saying, "While recovering from a brain injury several years ago, I was told to find a creative pastime to help my brain build new neural pathways. Since I had never done it before, I chose painting. I never expected to like it. I didn't know it would transform my life." This speaks eloquently to the power of the arts in our lives, all our lives. Fran's reception will be held Thursday, March 5 from 5:30pm to 8pm.

Fran Corriveau

SANDRA HAYNES has a multimedia exhibit, "Exploration of Artistic Media Through a Series" at Bernardston Unitarian Meeting House 49 Church St, through March. On SUN, MAR 8 AT 12:30 PM she will host a brown-bag lunch discussion about combining her passion for journaling with multimedia visual artwork after the regular UU service with Barry Deitz at 11:30.

Sustainable Lives, Attainable Dreams examines the critical issues of the world's human population explosion and humanity's resource consumption problem in tandem. It was produced, filmed in four countries, and edited by Raw'n in 1993 for the National Wildlife Federation. It was premiered and featured at the 1994 United Nations World Conference on Population in Cairo. 26 years further "down the road," it is very interesting to look at it's predictions and compare them to what we have today. Additional materials will be presented to bring the topic up to the present and beyond

THE GIFT SHOP WELCOMES NEW SEASONALLY APPROPRIATE CRAFT AND ART.

Are you looking for lovely gifts for Spring birthdays and holidays? We have many new jewelry items in the Gift Shop including a nice selection of earrings by Leni Gaudet, Geo-Graphic Gems by new DVAA member Marcia Passos-Duffy, and jewelry with an Irish twist by MJ Hauri.

If you have winter holiday or winter wear in the shop, please drop by and rotate them out with spring or non-season specific items. Gen Abate and Mary Field will be happy to consult with you regarding gift shop submissions.

We also have gift certificates in any amount $10 or more that can be used in both the gallery and gift shop. Let your friends know about us!

Take clear water with grass waving at the bottom. It's wonderful to look at, but to try to paint it is enough to make one insane. (Claude Monet)

EXHIBITS OF INTEREST NEAR BY

MUSEUM OF FINE ART, BOSTON

Monet and Boston: Lasting Impression

April 18–August 23, 2020

In honor of its 150th anniversary, the MFA celebrates a great treasure of its collection with a once-in-a-generation chance to see all 35 of the Museum's oil paintings by Monet. Many of the paintings were brought to Boston during Monet's lifetime, and, although a gallery was dedicated to a rotating display of the artist's works in 2016, it has been 25 years since the entire collection was shown together.

THE CLARK

Lines from Life

French Drawings from the Diamond Collection

March 21–August 23, 2020

In celebration of the generous, ongoing gift of Herbert and Carol Diamond, this exhibition explores an array of figure drawings by leading nineteenth-century French artists. Works by Jean-Auguste-Dominique Ingres, the Flandrin family, Eugène Delacroix, Edgar Degas, Jean-Léon Gérôme, and Odilon Redon illustrate the ebb and flow between academic traditions of drawing the body and freer approaches that challenged those conventions. Many of the drawings reveal the diversity of effects achieved with graphite, the primary instructional medium before mid-century.
